Cold Beds Are Dangerous, Boston Herald. The idea is quite prevalent that a stove or other heating apparatus is out of place in sleeping-rooms. Nothing could be more absurd. Danger threatens even the most robust who undress in a cold room and get into a cold bed. Always before the hour of retiring the room should be made comfortably warm, and the clothing be thrown back from the bed, so that it will be well aired and dried, as well as warmed. To disregard this rule is always dangerous. As has been aptly said. "If trust worthy statistics could be had of the number of persons who die every year or become permapeople are often denied warm sleeping quarters, in which case the parents should insist that they undress in a warm room, and while they are doing so their beds should be well ironed with a flatiron. If, in addition to this, they are provided with warm flannel night dresses, the danger from cold will be largely obviated. And this suggests that, instead of wearing a woolen

The total sales of stocks to-day were 225,081 shares, including the following: Delaware, Lackawanna & Western, 12,925; Lake Shore, 8,075; Louisville & Nashville, 12,785; Missouri Pacific, 3,015; Northwestern, 4,600; North American, 10,575; Northern Pacific preferred, 6,370; Reading, 23,610; Richmond & West Point, 5,330; St. Paul, 25,-145; Union Pacific, 9,915; Western Union,

To-day's stock market was merely an annex to that of yesterday, and weakness was still the great characteristic of the dealing, prices being still lower this evening. The advices from London were rather more favorable, and the recent movements in the railroad world looking toward a better and more harmonious state of affairs received mere attention, and the disposition was to look for any improvement in prices, providing the bank statement should give an assurance that a squeeze in money rates Marion, Ind., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dan | would not compel the throwing overboard of purchases within a reasonable time. general expectation was that statement would show either an improvement or only a slight change, and the traders were disposed to cover their "shorts" in the early trading with the help of some buying for foreign account. The opening under these circumstances was made at prices which were from 440 34 per cent. better than last evening's figures, but, not withstanding the buying, the pressure to sell was still heavy and declines in the grangers and others were very material in the first half hour's trading. Illinois Central dropped 2 per cent.; St. Paul and Chicago Gas, 112: Lackawanna, a like amount; Western Union, Sugar and Louisville others 1 per cent. and The pressure was then abated and comparative duliness was accompanied by considerable of a reaction in the list, when stagnation in prices succeeded. The bank statement when issued showed a reduction in the surplus reserve of about $3,500,000, and there was immediately another rush to sell for both sides of the account, and another sharp break followed. in which particular attention was paid by the "bears" to Reading, C., C., C. & St. Louis and St. Paul preferred, each dropping away about 2 per cent., while losses of 1 per cent. and under were numerous. The pressure showed no abatement up to the close, although some stocks had not lost all of the reaction from the lowest prices of the first hour. Others, however, reached still lower figures than were touched yesterday, and the close was active and weak at or about the lowest prices of the day. As compared with last evening, Reading is down 17s; New England, 14; Lackawanna, Northern Pacific preferred and New York Central, each 14; St. Paul and Louis ville & Nashville, each 118; Illinois Central and Burlington & Quincy, each 1 per cent., and others fractional amounts, while Pullman is 112 higher, and Pacific Mail I

Railroad bonds showed the same quiet business as usual of late, and the sales of all issues reached only $680,000, with no special feature of interest in the trading. The weak tone of yesterday was continued. however, and all the important final changes were losses.
Government bonds were dull and steady.

State bonds were dull and without feature. Closing quotations were:

TRADING AT CHICAGO.

Wheat Closes Lower but Corn Advances-Oats Steady-Pork Weak. CHICAGO, Nov. 8.-There was good speculative trading in wheat, and the feeling was again nervous and unsettled. The money market is having considerable influence on the market, for after a steady opening and a slight appreciation in prices here the report that the New York bank statement made an unfavorable showing and the decline in stocks had a depressing feeling and prices were carried to the lowest point. The opening was firm at about yesterday's closing to a shade above, advanced to a point 12@5sc over yesterday's closing. slightly held under for a while and then broke off rapidly to a point 2c lower for December and 17sc lower for May than the top figure reached early in the morning. The market then recovered on "shorts" covering and some export buying at the seaboard, and prices were advanced 78@1c, ruling quite firm, and closed about 3sc lower for December and 1sc lower for May than the closing figures of yesterday. Corn was fairly active and trade irregular, price charges being frequent within 5,0 34c range. The market opened firm at a slight advance on light receipts and upon good buying sold up 14c, when wheat broke and the market sympathized and declined The reaction of 58@34c followed. which was fairly well maintained at the close, final quotations showing a gain of 19 @5sc. Oats were moderately active and steadier, prices bolding within 7se limit. The market opened slightly lower, but advanced se, receded to opening figures for May, but rallied 34c, and the market closed steady at about outside figures. Rather a good business was transacted in pork and prices fluctuated considnently diseased from sleeping in damp or cold beds, they would probably be astonatishing and appalling. The children of poor caused a steadier feeling, and the decline was recovered. Later there was considerable pressure to sell, while the inquiry was less urgent and a reduction of 1712@20c was submitted to. Toward the close the feeling was steadier, and prices rallied 712@10c, though trading was moderate. Consider-able interest was manifested in lard. Trading was rather active. Opening sales were made at .0212c decline, but this was quickly recovered. Later the market weakened, close prices rallied .0212@.05c and the mar-ket closed quiet. The leading futures ranged as follows:

INDIANAPOLIS MARKETS.

Activity the Leading Characteristic in the Business Situation. INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 8 .- In all departments activity is the leading characteristic, with firm prices ruling on the majority of the staple articles. Very seldom do prices carry so firm and steady a tone week after week as in the last six months. Fluctuations in staple groceries are few, and have generally come on so slight an advance or decline that there was no marked loss or gain to either the wholesale or the retail merchant. The wool market has taken on of late a decidedly firm tone, and the advance of 2 cents per pound is bringing a large per cent. of the wool which has been held for better prices onto the market. The flour market is a disappointment. Prices have not improved, neither has the demand to an extent which the millers had anticipated, and as yet there is little money for the millers in the article. The provision market is in better shape than usual in early November. There is a good deal doing in a jobbing way, and prices do not go off badly. In the produce markets there is a good deal of activity. With the exception of sweet potatoes everything in the vegetable market carries an easy tone at quotations, fruits of the season especially. Fine apples and oranges are in ight supply, and sell at our best quotation. The poultry market, on account of large receipts, is weak. Eggs met with ready sale at quotations. Other markets present no new features.

The week closes with a steady market on all eereals, with but slight changes in

HINTS FOR HOME DRESS-MAKERS. Little Matters That Add Much to the Stylish

Appearance of Garments. Demorest's Monthly. Skirts of walking dresses are still cut walking-length, that is, just escaping the ground. Especially is this necessary for the proper effect of the circle or habit skirt, any ungraceiui whei clutched in the back to raise it from the sidewalk, or even when shortened by tapes. There are various devices and arrangements of tapes for shortening the skirts of dresses intended for both house and street wear, but the makeshift is always evident, and betrays the necessity for economy. A short skirt can be worn in the house with perfect propriety on any occasion; but a skirt resting upon or even touching the ground is entirely out of place on the street, excepting it passing to or from a carriage; hence, those versed in les convenances, even ing, have their walking costumes made walking length. With the clinging skirt the perfect fit of the foundation skirt is absolutely essential, and it requires as careful fitting as the waist. Always guard against having the front drawn too closely, by holding it full in mounting to the belt; and try it sitting as well as standing before adding the drapery. Fit over the hips by taking out small gores rather than by laying plaits, if a very smooth fit be necessary.

though a longer skirt may be more becom-

A favorite finish for the bottom of the skirt, instead of braid, and much more durable, is a velvet-covered cord or a narrow piping of velvet or velveteen set in between the outside and the inner facing. A good plan is to make two slashes in the bottom of the front, about two and a half inches deep, and where the feet touch the skirt in walking. This gives more case, and the friction on the shoes is reduced. All bodices are cut to give a slender, longwaisted effect, and to this end side-form seams are straighter and reach almost, and sometimes quite, to the shoulder seams. For the same purpose the back seams of the side gores are placed as far back as the figure will allow, which gives roundness to a flat figure, and makes the waist appear more slender. Shoulder seams reach only to the tips of the shoulders, and are made to appear even shorter by having the fullness of the sleeves caught up over them. For street wear the moderately high, straight standing collar is worn, but modifications of the Medici collar are most fashionable; for house dresses, collars more or less flaring are almost universal, although a high, straight collar edged with a narrow puff of white or a color is still considered stylish. A frill of lace falling over the hand is a favorite and very becoming finish for the bottom of the sleeve for a house dress; or the writs and collar are finished with a velvet-covered cord, or one of silver or gilt.

Curing a Dog of Sheep Worrying.

Young dogs can be made so thoroughly afraid of sheep that they will not attack them in their mature years. Tie them to the head of a ram and let about eight feet of rope intervene, and then place them in a clear field. The repeated charges of the ram will so disgust the dog with the "sheep business" that he will ever after avoid the ovine race. An old dog which was caught in the act of killing sheep was cured of the propensity in this manner, in my presenmany years ago. As the ram continued to charge upon the dog the latter worked closer and closer to the fence, and when he had reached it the ram drew back, and as he made the final charge the dog went over the fence with a "ki yi" that made the onlookers laugh uproarously. The canine could only touch his hind feet to the ground, and as the ram would back up to make another charge this would draw the dog up a little. His struggles to get released and the ram trying to get a fair "clip" at him caused a see-sawing across the fence that was "good as a circus" to witness. This was heroic treatment; but all said: "Good enough for him." He lived several years, but was not known to molest
